ROYS FAMILY RECORDS

In August 1629, Robert Ryece of England wrote a letter to his friend, John Winthrop, Governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, trying to persuade him not to go to New England, but Governor Winthrop came and it seems that he persuaded Robert Roys to come with him, for Governor Winthrop arrived on the Arabella which anchored June 17, 1630. August 27, 1630, the first church of Boston was founded at Charlestown and John Winthrop and Margaret, his wife, and Robert Roys were among the covenant members. Roys' wife was Elizabeth, and I think he must have married after he came to this country, as their first child was born in 1637. He was entered freeman in Massachusetts in 1634 and was one of those disarmed in Boston in 1637 for adherence to the party of Wheelright and Hutchinson. Three children were born in Boston, and about 1643 he removed to Stratford, Connecticut, and from there in 1657 to New London, Connecticut, where he died in 1676. He was a man of influence holding responsible public positions. He was a shoemaker by trade. He had ten children, seven sons and three daughters. One son settled in Norwich, Connecticut, four sons and one daughter went to Wallingford, Connecticut and were among the first settlers of that town. The name is spelled in various ways but in England, it is Roys. Robert Roys was constable in New London in 1660 and in 1661 representative for that town.

Children of Robert Roys, who came from England to New England in 1630 and Elizabeth his wife.
